

30 March 2001

Hitachi signs partnership agreement with bolero.net

<http://www.bolero.net>

Electronics company Hitachi Ltd has signed a partnership agreement with secure messaging system bolero.net, to develop a software package to allow connectivity into bolero. Hitachi is committed to providing a full-scale business solution based on the Bolero System.

"We believe that bolero.net is unique in allowing different vertical markets, such as the automobile and steel industries, to link into the same basic e-business infrastructure a major step forward in the development of international b2b e-commerce," says Hitachi.

Digitalship - <http://www.thedigitalship.com>